'Here's Looking at You, Kid'

Humphrey Bogart was born Dec. 25, 1899, and went on to become one of Hollywood's legendary leading men. Celebrate this star of the silver screen with a rewind of some of his most famous films.

"The Maltese Falcon" (1941) —

Bogart plays Sam Spade, a cool and cynical San Francisco private detective in this mystery thriller. Critics say this was a career-defining role for Bogart and launched him to leading man status.

"Casablanca" (1942) — This legendary film set in Morocco during World War II gave Bogart his first turn as a romantic lead and the memorable lines he's known for, including, "Here's looking at you, kid." He portrays an American expatriate nightclub owner who faces a dilemma and danger when his former love turns up needing help.

"To Have and Have Not"

(1944) — As the owner of a charter boat in Martinique, Bogart's character reluctantly takes a job helping the French Resistance and falls for a sultry American drifter, played by Lauren Bacall in her film debut. There was romance on screen and off between Bogart and his co-star. The two met during filming and later married.

"The African Queen" (1951) —

Bogart won a best actor Oscar for portraying a coarse riverboat captain who's teamed with a prim English missionary (Katharine Hepburn) in this "opposites-attract" romantic adventure set in Africa during World War I.

A Letter from the Executive Director

Dear Barrington Family,

Kindness is contagious! Never underestimate the impact of a random act of kindness. It truly can make someone else's entire day! As we approach the holidays, what better time of the year to reach out to a friend, a family member and/or a total stranger and charm them with kind words or a kind deed. Do not let money be an obstacle as many of the ideas listed below take only a little time.

Send a card to a friend for no reason, buy a lottery ticket for a stranger, find opportunities to give a compliment, give someone the benefit of the doubt, cut out an article and send it to someone, Share a great book you've read. If you print an internet coupon, participate in Operation Gratitude — write a letter to a deployed or wounded member of the military, consider volunteering your time, food, and/or money, donate to Toys For Tots this holiday season.

Every small interaction with others is an opportunity to have a positive impact on both of your lives. The world is a better place through your kindness. Enjoy the holidays and consider using this time of the year to start sharing your random acts of kindness. Remember, it's contagious! Mark your calendars for some fun and festive events this December! On December 10th at 6 p.m. we will be hosting a Forest of Trees. The Forest of Trees event will take place in the Gathering Place and will showcase Christmas trees decorated and donated by local vendors. You can walk through and enjoy desserts and drinks as you take part in a silent auction for the beautifully decorated trees. All proceeds from the auction will go toward Toys For Tots.

On December 21st we will be hosting our Employee Resident Christmas Party. Cookies and punch will be served as Santa hands out the gifts to our employees from the residents.
